Each golf course in North Dakota will be able to send a competitor in each of the 8 divisions. Qualifying for the event will take place at each North Dakota course, with the local courses each hosting their own qualifiers. Local courses are encouraged to use this as a local fundraising event. There is no cost for entry at the state level for all qualifiers from each local event.

All qualifiers must be submitted by local courses to the NDGA by July 25 via email to ndga2020@gmail.com.

Divisions for the event will be as follows:

BISMARCK, N.D. (KFYR) - It's one of the biggest annual golf events in North Dakota and it's at Riverwood in a few days. 111 players have signed up to test themselves against the trees at Bismarck's busiest golf course.

54-holes in just two days will be played to determine the champion in the Open Division. The best high school, college and amateur players will be busy this weekend.

"36 holes on Saturday and 18 holes on Sunday it's a wonderful test of a person's mental game to endure and survive the difficulty of Riverwood Golf Course and get through that thing and just prove to yourself that you can play golf and you can get around really well and compete with the best in the state and we've got a heck of a field this week," said NDGA Executive Director Tim Doppler.

The State Stroke Play is actually five events in one. Doppler says 60 players will be in the Open Division. Then there are divisions called Mid-Am, Senior, Super Senior and Legacy. Doppler also credits the grounds crew for getting the course in great shape.

"They won't get it in better condition than this right now. They're working super, super hard. The greens are rolling as fast as they're going to roll. We kind of get it toward U.S. Open style, so it's kind of a tribute to the U.S. Open saying we're going to turn the water off a little bit so it will be very, very firm very, very fast and it will be a different golf course than people see regularly," said Doppler.

"It's a golf course where you have to have every golf shot. You just can't get away with bombing it with a drive, go out and find it, and hit it to the green, very, very tight fairways, very demanding as far as your command of the golf ball. You have got to be able to move it both ways, plus you got to be able to get it high and low so it's a very, very great test of golf and it will hold up to the challenge," said Doppler.

The Open Division gets the golf started on Saturday at seven a.m. central time.
